

SCONYC

Science Council of New York City

December 2006

Dear Science Supplier,

On April 14, 2007 the Science Council of New York City will be holding its 30th annual conference. The SCONYC Conference is the only Science conference held in the metropolitan area that involves teachers from K-12. Generally 500 teachers and supervisors attend the SCONYC conference each year. Each participant receives a copy of the Program Directory, which offers you a unique opportunity to reach some of the most motivated and professionally oriented educators in the metropolitan area. If you would like to place an advertisement in the 2007 Program Directory, please send your camera-ready material or disk to address below. If you interested in becoming a Corporate Sponsor, please see the attached.

Below is the advertising rate schedule. Make checks payable to SCONYC and send it with your camera-ready artwork to:
